Governor Foraker is speaking at Ironton, today—the 25th.

Let us hope that Georgia will creep back into the Union after Jeff. Davis goes home.

The democratic Boe, of Toledo, speaks of the Powell gas well at Tiffin. Powell does not seem to gas well at any other town.

The Powderly Knights should give the Parsons Knights an easy exit from their organization. It will be infinitely stronger without them.

General and Governor Gordon comes from Confederate Georgia, with the old rebel yell yet ringing in his ears, to instruct our citizens how to vote.

We are glad to see the Nema. Twilight is a new and very neat typographical dress.
It now makes its appearance in the evening instead of the morning, as heretofore. The paper has greatly improved under the management of Mr. B. S. Cowen. Success—in large measure—to the Evening Twilight.

Governor Gordon, of Georgia, is going to take the stump for Powell, of Ohio. What is to become of Foraker if he encounters him? What, indeed, but a grease-spot?

It is Gordon steps on that grease-spot he will be sure to slip and break his confederate neck. It will be the liveliest grease-spot or anything else that he ever encountered.

The following is from the pen of the late Henry Ward Beecher, and it might possibly be locally applied, with profit, occasionally.

I have sometimes had the misfortune to sit in concerts where persons would chatter and giggle and laugh during the performance of the profoundest passages of the symphonies of the great artists, and I never fall to think at such times, "I ask not who you are: I know who you are by the way you conduct yourself here—by the way of sympathy and appreciation which you evince in what is passing around you."

In Harper's Weekly, for October 22nd, we find a full page of illustrations, representing the fine new stone college buildings, at Oberlin, the most largely attended college in the United States. With them is a very fine, life-like portrait of the venerable president, Rev. James H. Fairchild, D. D., one of the ablest college presidents and one of the best educators in the country. He is also one of the best men living.
He has been connected with the institution, as student, professor or president, for nearly if not quite a half century.

OUR CANDIDATES.

Our republican county convention made up an exceptionally good ticket. Against Judge Miller, of the probate court, Auditor Service and Clerk Rabbitts, as officials, not a word has been said. Their public record is beyond criticism. So remarkable were the qualities which have been shown by Mr.
Service that he was mentioned, in other parts of the state, as a proper person to be elected state auditor. He is one who has a word to say against Recorder Todd, who was an old soldier and a good citizen and a faithful, efficient officer.

Commissioner Sterrett was renominated without opposition and he has an impressionable record as an official and as a citizen.
The same is true of the veteran union soldier, Mr. James M. Bennett. Mr. John M.
Stewart, the candidate for a place on the judiciary board, is one of our best citizens, an honored member of an honored family.

Representative Rawlins not only has an unimpeachable legislative record, but he has developed great strength in the personal work he has done this fall. He has made a very good impression, indeed, and has gone beyond the high expectation of his friends. Of Judge Miller, it is hardly necessary to speak. He is always eloquent, convincing, and effective, and the worth of the man always gives weight to his utterances. Mr. Service has also fought a good fight in enlightening his fellow-citizens on financial questions. He is one of our most intelligent and well-placed public men, and he grows in power from year to year. Service is his name and service—true and loyal—is what he renders to his fellow-citizens. We have never had a better auditor than he has proved himself to be.

Mr. J. Harry Rabbitts is well-known to be a young man with a head on him, and a heart in him. He has broken the record of court clerks in popularity and efficiency and he is one of our best stumpers, and is always greeted with pleasure and enthusiasm wherever he speaks.

Indeed, the republicans of "Old Clark" are famous for making up good tickets.
Commissioner D. W. Rawlins, who was re-elected two years ago, has just been appointed by the governor as a delegate for the Eighth Ohio congressional district to a national farmers' convention, to be held in a few weeks at Chicago.

Let us show our appreciation of our county candidates by giving them our overwhelming majorities. They are in all respects worthy of the very best we can do for them.

On Thursday, at Macon, Georgia, Gordon, the governor of the state, and one of Jeff. Davis's old rebel generals, the same gentleman who comes to Ohio, upon invitation of the democratic state central committee to make speeches in favor of Powell and the rest of its gang candidates, said, in introducing Jeff. Davis to the people, at the state fair, (as reported by the local Associated Press agent):

My brother soldiers, it is my infinite pleasure in your behalf to welcome to this great state and to the hearts of the people the grand old chief. "Hurrah for Jeff. Davis, God bless him." It is his good fortune, after an eventful life filled with stormy scenes and vicissitudes, to look back upon a career without a blot or a stain—a life that has been spent in the service of his country and his country's liberty. Whether, when in congress, in the arena of America's talent and ambition, or resigning that seat to do battle for his country in Mexico and winning imperishable renown at Buena Vista; or in Mr. Pierce's cabinet as director of the war department, filling that office with an ability that defied criticism; or in the U. S. senate, where, by his purity of action, his purity of life and his statesmanship, he won the title of "Cicero of the Senate"; or later on when he was called to the head of a new government (a strenuous voice, "God bless him"), which struggled with a nerve and unflinching patriotism; and now in your presence and his I offer his congratulations and salute to his people that are united in us "God bless him," from a thousand voices in his green old age.

The appearance of a man with the sort of a mouth that utters this kind of talk in Ohio at this time is exceedingly inopportu-ne and unfortunate—for the men the democrats who bring him here.

Anarchy must be suppressed. It is of a piece with theft, robbery, burglary and other crimes, except that when it is organized it is treason and rebellion. All anarchists are at heart traitors and in spirit and in intent murderers, and they are not slippery conspirators against policeman and the military but against the government and the people it represents. In Chicago local politicians played with the anarchists and worked them for their votes, nursing them for what they could make out of them in the way of political support, until the randings and ravings culminated in the bomb-throwing and the massacre at the Haymarket. All that is asked of any citizen or man is that he shall obey the authorities and respect the laws of the land. That is what all good and decent citizens gladly do. The man who defies the police or the military for doing their duty in protecting person and property and in preserving the public peace is a man whose sympathies are with turbulence, tumult and unlawful violence rather than with the reign of law and order, and he is, to that extent, a dangerous citizen. There is no excuse, whatever, for anarchy in a government of, for and by the people, such as ours.

The democratic candidate for the legislature who advertises himself as the "Hon." J. B. Abell, is trying to persuade republicans not to vote for Hon. George C. Rawlins because he voted for the Arnett bill.
Mr. Abell himself voted for Governor Hendley, who recommended the repeal of the law authorizing "mixed schools." He also voted, last year, for Melville, the democratic candidate for secretary of state, who as a member of the Sixtysixth and Sixty-seventh general assembly, voted for "mixed schools." Mr. Abell has often repeatedly told Mr. James Buford and other colored men that he was "used to mixed schools at Oberlin," and was "in favor of them," and he now declares that he is opposed to them "on principle." What kind of principle he doesn't say.
Was ever a greater specimen of class exhibition since Satan offered the whole world to Christ if he would bow down and worship him? We think not. The democrats are making all possible effort to get a majority in the next legislature.

POWELL'S TAXES.

A MAN WHO MAKES OVER $15,000 A YEAR PROVES A DODGER.

He Has Paid No Taxes on His Real Estate in Delaware Since 1873—No Wonder He Objects to Any Reference to Tax Matters.

Mr. T. E. Powell, Democratic candidate for governor, has had a good deal to say in this campaign about taxes. He has found fault with Governor Foraker's special message on state finances, the recommendations of which were expected to result in reducing the taxes of farmers and others who are overburdened and paying more than their just share of taxes, and compelling those who have evaded taxes on property they own to bear their just share of taxation. For some time it was not known why Mr. Powell was so highly indignant at this message, but it was known, for he himself had advertised it, that he claimed to be conducting a highly successful business and to be making at the very lowest estimate $15,000 a year by his law practice. He has caused a biography of himself to be published in the Cambrian and in pamphlets in the Welsh language, setting forth the fact that he has made $15,000 a year by his law business and is highly prosperous. It was known that he owned property in Delaware, and that with all the money he has been making he was abundantly able to bear his just share of the burden of taxation and to relieve poor men who are paying taxes on their little homes from bearing in addition to their own burdens, those of men like himself.

Now it has been discovered that the real reason for Mr. Powell's hostility to the governor's special message is that he, Powell, has been evading taxation on his property; that he (Powell) has been a tax dodger, although he has made so much money that he ought to pay his taxes.

An investigation shows from the official records of Delaware county that Mr. Powell has not paid one cent of taxes on his house in Delaware since 1873.
For twelve years now he has failed to pay his taxes, and by this failure on his part the taxes of every property owner have been increased to just the extent that Powell's taxes would amount to.
There stands to-day against Mr.
Powell's property in Delaware delinquent taxes to the amount of $74.43. This is a matter of record which Mr. Powell cannot contradict, and it may explain why it is that after Democratic and Republican newspapers had approved Governor Foraker's message Mr. Powell turned upon it and has been assailing his campaign managers and the newspapers supporting him to make a fight on Governor Foraker, especially on that message, which is of course obnoxious to Mr. Powell, who is increasing the tax burdens of the state by failing to meet his fair share of them. Certainly the people can understand why Mr.
Powell has been going about the state raving like an insane man over Governor Foraker's views on taxation.

The fact that Mr. Powell had not paid his taxes for two years, in spite of the large income he has been receiving, was exposed by Governor Foraker in his speech at Cleveland last week. On the second night after this exposure Mr.
Powell stated to several reputable gentlemen in the northwestern part of the state that the statement was not true, and that he had paid his taxes. That was telegraphed to Delaware immediately, and on investigation of the books in the auditor's and treasurer's offices in Delaware it was found that Mr. Powell's statement was at variance with the truth.
He had not paid the taxes on his place in Delaware for twelve years, and in stating that he had paid what he knew to be untrue. The following day, Thursday, October 20, Mr. Powell admitted the falsity of his statement of the evening before by going to Delaware and paying the taxes which he had so long avoided.
This admission of his de facto fact that he had been dodging his taxes for twelve years, and only paid them because forced to do so by public disapproval of his course, has not tended to increase the respect of people for him. The taxpayers of Delaware county can thank Governor Foraker for having demanded that Mr.
Powell bear his share of the burden of taxation and to relieve them from further carrying his load. After all, some good has been done by Powell's candidacy for governor, as he probably would have never paid his taxes had he not by his course brought to the attention of the public his omission in that respect.
Governor Foraker deserves the thanks of the people for bringing him to time in the matter, but it is probable that Powell will continue angry at the governor on account of the tax matter, and will discontinue his abuse of him.
